Founder, Karl Elsener

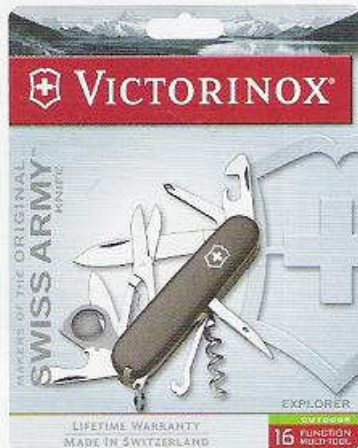

1884

In 1884, Karl Elsener started his cutlery factory in the small village of Ibach, Switzerland where he pioneered the creation of a "Soldier's" pocketknife for the Swiss Army. In 1897, he created a lighter more elegant "Officer's Knife" that would later become known around the world as the Victorinox® Original Swiss

Army™ Knife. Today, this ingenious, award-winning multi-tool remains an icon of precision, quality, functionality, versatility and outstanding value. Knives Illustrated magazine named our Classic SD model "the most popular knife in America."

Since all of our multi-tools have so many uses, it can be difficult to decide which product to purchase. With this in mind, we have created lifestyle segmentations to help you and your customer with purchasing decisions. Other exciting improvements this year are the redesign of the blister packaging and the expansion of the product available in this packaging.

Our goal is to energize the multi-tool category and energize your sales.

Victorinox Legacy1884

Karl Elsener opens a small cutlery workshop in Ibach, Switzerland on the first floor of this building, a former Koller (flour) mill on the Tobelbach River.

1891

First order of pocketknives from Karl Elsener is delivered to the Swiss army. The Soldier's knife is designed to complement a newly ordered rifle.

Victorinox Legacy

1897

A patent is awarded to Karl Elsener for the Swiss Officer's Knife. Lighter and more elegant than the rugged Soldier's knife, it also features more functions using only two springs for six tools.

1909

In remembrance of Karl's deceased mother, Victoria Elsener-Ott, VICTORIA is chosen as the company's trademark.

Victorinox Legacy

1923

Karl Elsener begins using stainless steel, discovered only two years earlier, in the production of his pocketknives. The internationally recognized mark of stainless steel, "Inox", is added to the VICTORIA trademark. They would eventually become merged to create the now famous VICTORINOX trademark.

VICTORIA

VICTORINOX

1940s

During World War II the Officer's Knife becomes hugely popular with American GIs. Because they have trouble pronouncing "Offiziersmesser", they coin it the "Swiss Army Knife."
